Pet Cockatoo Bites Hand

A pet cockatoo, which he rescued from atop a power pole Sunday afternoon, sent Fireman R. Marvin Lee to the emergency hospital for minor repairs.

The bird, owned by J. C. Wheelhouse, 1131 Michigan avenue, broke away from Mr. Wheel-house and flew to the top of the pole, where a chain on its leg became entangled in power wires. A call for aid was sent to fire company No. 5 and Fireman Lee rushed to the scene. He scaled the pole and reached for the cockatoo. The bird struck, lacerating the fixeman's left thumb. Fireman Lee's second attempt to capture the cockatoo was successful, and, after turning the bird over to Mr. Wheelhouse, he reported at the hospital, where the lacerated thumb was treated.
